

Marina's Zombie Film

Watching Marina film her zombie movie was incredible. I felt like such a dweeb on set—everything was so professional while I just stood around uselessly. Meanwhile, Marina was commanding the set with total confidence, throwing herself into a freezing lake again and again, and even telling the security she'd hired to piss off when they were telling her she was getting hypothermia. I couldn't have been prouder, and the crew was clearly just as in awe of her.

marina's zombie bite

stopped off at the south mimms batteries
Open Energi optimise on the way home.

